Learning Objectives

This course aims to introduce students to some important methodological approaches and tools to the writing of several important fields of history-writing (connected history, social history, micro-history, history of emotions and oral history). Each unit contains core historical texts along with readings that will allow the student to critically engage with the methods of research and analysis used by the author. The course will both give students a sense of the wide range of the historiographical advances in the discipline, as well as equip them to read and interpret primary sources by familiarizing them with some crucial tools of historical analysis.

Learning outcomes

On completion of this course the student will be able to:

- Critically read and engage with the arguments as well as the methodology used by historians in texts of historiographical importance
- Understand the methodological perspectives and tools of analysis in different fields.
- Reflect on how these diverse practices of history could be used by them to read and interpret primary sources.
